

HOMEOBOTANICALS

Homeobotanicals are a powerful, synergistic blend of organic herbs in liquid form, diluted and potentised homeopathically and selectively chosen to target specific organs and systems of the body.

They are not Herbal medicine or Homeopathy but rather a unique combination of the two which works on both physical and vibrational levels.

The Homeopathic potentization of the herbs stimulates healing within the body in a gentle and sustained way, making them suitable for even the most sensitive of people and the physical action includes organ drainage, detoxification and assisting assimilation of minerals and micronutrients, aiding nutrition and supporting the body's natural immune system.

Homeobotanical remedies can be blended in any combination to match the health needs of each client and can even be added to gels, creams and oils. They can be used effectively alongside Homeopathic prescriptions as well as allopathic medicine.
